"I am proud to be a Jew! . . . Why? . . . Well, because of all the reasons that I have learnt in school. That's why!! How do I know that I am proud? Because I just am . . . of course I am . . . I mean I marched in the parade!!

The first very warm day of spring. Lightweight jackets flung over shoulders or carefully draped over one arm. Pressing to the curb to catch sight of the parade. And what is a parade but people? Jews, young and old, out on this sunny afternoon to take part in a special event, marching down the broad avenues of New York City with banners, floats, and flags. The entire area of the parade is filled with youth, carefree — soon to be adults — untouched by the travails of life. They mill about with the energy characteristic of their kind, each pursuing his immediate future with a gay and carefree vigor. No thought is more dear to them than the pleasures of an immediate future.

My thoughts swing suddenly back to the marchers. I notice now the lack of luster, blatant only in comparison to the youth. They march, chanting slogans, and bearing banners identifying their groups, as if they're fulfilling an obligation, continuing only to claim credit before dispersing.

It seems strange that the warm sunniness of the day does not invigorate them, but this, as well as the youth love of life is not the kind that will inject determination into a people comfortable with placidity. Can we who do not know pain and oppression muster the depth of feeling to actually rage at an unseen, unrealized enemy?

Is Judaism precious to me? . . . Am I proud? . . . How do I know? . . . Whoever tested me? . . . No sooner does this unanswered wail fade from my consciousness than another comes to mind.

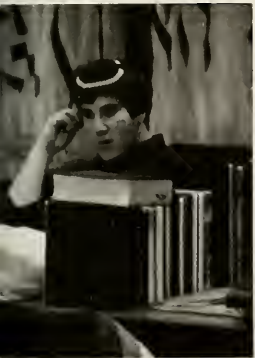

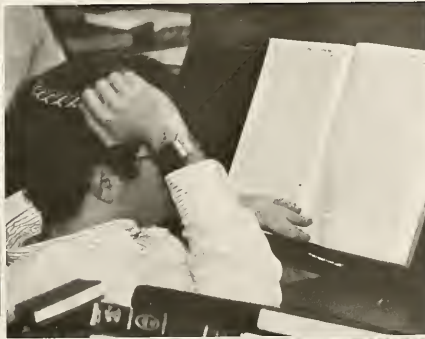

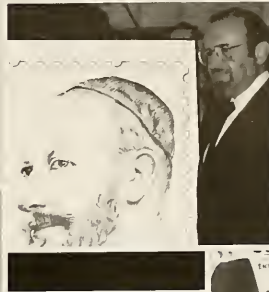

Natan Scharansky walked slowly across the bridge. The sun was not strong and he was alone, but the pride in a man's eyes and bearing is unmistakable.

I will not bemoan my placidity and remain abject. I will make this man's pain mine and with this, his pride will become mine. His strength will be mine, and in my eyes and in my bearing his pride will be reflected. And reflected indeed because I can not bear it to remain within me. For this must be the promise and future of my generation. I will know that I am proud"

JULES POLONETSKY

Class of 1986

Listen closely to a story that began so long ago
of a small but steadfast nation overcoming every foe.
Our history tells stories of great heroes rising,
oh so strong, standing up for just beliefs
even though others thought that they were wrong.

Now it's time to rise up and proclaim
"I am proud to be a Jew."
Committing yourself to yiddishkeit
is the only thing to do.
So grasp the belief that Hashem is one.
Work for Torah's goals.
And as the time continues, you'll find
peace within your souls.

Ani Ma'amin, I believe, that the day will surely come when all Jews will be united standing tall and proud as one.
Ani Ma'amin, I believe, that the day will surely come when the Moshiach will arrive and the world will be at peace AGAIN!!

Now it's time to rise up and proclaim
"I am proud to be a Jew."
Committing yourself to yiddishkeit
is the only thing to do.
So grasp the belief that Hashem is one.
Work for Torah's goals.
And as the time continues, you'll find
peace within your souls.

RUACH

The world looked on with uncertainty as the Russian man crossed the Glienicke Bridge to freedom.

Who is this enigmatic personality who was the subject of countless cries for freedom during the 9 years of his imprisonment? As his unique personality became known, the uncertainty was transformed into awe. Courageous Anatoly (Natan) Scharansky's remarkable determination enabled him to become strengthened, not weakened, in the face of adversity. He became for us, the personification of the triumph of good over evil.

Yet in our moment of victory let us not forget Yosef Begun and other Soviet Jews who must endure the oppressive regime that is the Soviet Union. He languishes in a Soviet labor camp sentenced in November 1982 to 12 years for anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda.

Begun, like Scharansky, suffers only because he is a Jew. Be it resolved that we will not relax our vigilance in protest against the humanitarian atrocities being committed against Soviet Jews.

We, the Class of 1986, dedicate our yearbook to these two men whose courage and dignity in defending their honor and the honor of all Jews, inspires us to stand firmly committed to our principles and to fight for what we believe is just.

ADMINISTRATION & FACULTY

Yeshiva University / Office of the President

TO THE YESHIVA COLLEGE CLASS OF 1986

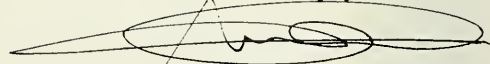

Your class is one of special distinction: You are the last graduating class from Yeshiva College of the first century of Yeshiva University's existence.

While this fact will have little impact on your individual careers and lives, it does mean much to your alma mater as an institution. It is the opportunity for us -- all of us, including you -- to look back upon the past with a sense of pride and accomplishment. Despite all the jeremiads about a vanishing Orthodoxy, and despite all the premature obituaries for the philosophy of Torah Umadda, we have now graduated an excellent class of fine representatives of what we stand for.

At the same time, this places upon you -- and all of us -- a special responsibility not to be oblivious to our faults, not to take anything for granted, and to bend every energy and effort to see to it that the ideals of Torah Umadda are realized in our lives; that Torah prevails in the Jewish community; that Jews in America, Israel, Russia, and elsewhere throughout the world survive creatively and constructively.

May each of you, in your individual professions and careers, join in this sacred task and bring pride and joy both to your families and to your alma mater.

Cordially yours,

NORMAN LAMM
President

YEAR IN RETROSPECT

In the second half of 1985, the world witnessed the long awaited and much hoped for nuclear disarmament summit held between President Reagan and Chairman Gorbachev. On New Years Day, the two leaders softened their rhetoric and took time to wish the other's countrymen a happy, healthy New Year. . . . 1985-86 has proved to be a tragic fulfillment of terrorist organization's threats of increased terrorist activity. The hijacking in air and on the seas, bombings aboard planes, in airports, discos frequented by American servicemen prompted President Reagan to intercept the airplane carrying the terrorists who hijacked the ACHILLE LAURO and murdered American Leon Klinghoffer. Later in 1986, American servicemen invaded a Libyan city along the seashore in retaliation for the firing of missiles by Libya at the American fleet. . . . President Reagan also tried to gain Congressional approval for increased funding for the "Contras" of Nicaragua. . . . "Baby Doc"

Duvalier is no longer President-for-Life of Haiti nor is Ferdinand Marcos on top in the Philippines. . . . South Africa was hit by increased rioting resulting in a "state of emergency" and international condemnation. . . . The United States faced an alarming increase in arrests of citizens suspected of spying against the country. Jonathan Jay Pollard was charged for selling secrets to Israel. . . . Israel retaliated in Tunisia by decimating the PLO headquarters following terrorist activities perpetrated against Israeli citizens in Cyprus. . . . Egyptian crack units rushed a hijacked plane in Malta, leaving scores dead. The bones of Dr. Josef Mengele were exhumed and positively identified. "Ivan the Terrible," an accused war criminal was extradited from the US to Israel where he stands trial and possibly the death penalty. . . . Much concern is being raised as to the war-time crimes of former UN Secretary-General, Kurt Waldheim.

Waldheim, running for the presidency of Austria denies published reports that he assisted in the murder of thousands of Jews. . . . The tragedy of the CHALLENGER rocked the nation and focused much attention on NASA's credibility. . . . Over 5,000 people died in Mexico City where two earthquakes rocked the capital. In Columbia, the eruption of Nevado del Ruiz caused over 20,000 deaths. . . . Hurricane Gloria caused great damage in many regions of the US. . . . Ed Koch was easily re-elected. . . . 1986 will be remembered partly as the year scandals in New York City's government broke. . . . Manes, Lindenauer, Lazar, and Friedman have been implicated. . . . In sports, Commissioner Ueberoth disciplined ball players who were implicated in the Pittsburgh drug trial. . . . Sugar Ray Richardson was banned for life for repeated cocaine use. . . . Mandlikova was victorious in Flushing. . . . The Royals beat the Cards in the all-Missouri World Series. . . . Wayne Gretzky topped the NHL record for most points. . . . The Bears and the Refrigerator outclassed the Pats in the Super Bowl. . . . It was the year of OUT OF AFRICA, Cosby, Live Aid, Farm Aid, Hands Across America, Comic Relief and

... GRADUATION!!!

David Shonbrun

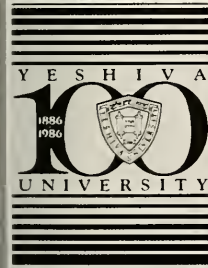

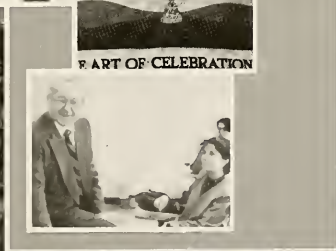

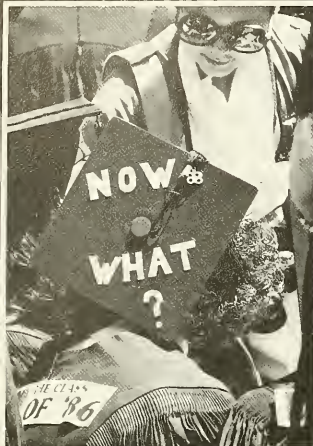

Our senior year began unhappily for a few unlucky students who found upon their arrival in Harlem that they were homeless... We also welcomed a new director of Security and Safety and said "good-bye" to our hot plates... We saw the demise of the YCSC bookstore — that bastion of student managed capitalism — and enjoyed its replacement, Barnes and Noble. Commentator came out... and irritated the YCSC President, the Student Senate, the Admissions Office, and WYUR, yet made for exciting reading... Avi, where is the other half of the Governing Board?... We celebrated proudly the unveiling of a commemorative postage stamp honoring YU's founder and first president, Dr. Bernard Revel. This was done to mark the University's Centennial. Whenever that is... WYUR moved to 64AM to inaugurate the station's 18th year of operation... Max Stern Athletic Center — a "men's only" clubhouse was christened with a MAC victory over Bard... Mice invade Riets Hall... NY Telephone awarded a grant of $250,000 to YU to improve computer facilities... YU students were recognized for excellence at the Harvard Model UN... The Office of Admissions reported a 7% increase in new students... The Caf' redecorated and extended hours... Late night treks to H and H and Paladium... Pre-Med Advisor Ms. Sarfati resigned and left Pre-meds in a state of panic... Bernstein is kosher... Honest... Really... No kidding... Schottenstein Center will open next January. Would you like to buy a bridge?... Those Computer Scientists got a bit rowdy at their CompuSci Shabbaton. So much for stereotypes... Our president negotiated with the SCWSC President and brought us Keshet and Kaballah... Unfortunately that event, the Mordechai Ben David Concert and the Chicago City Limits fiasco also left us with a substantially smaller budget... Rabbi Hirt was appointed Vice President for Administration and Professional Education at RIETS... Vice President Bush addressed the University's annual Chanukah Dinner (which raised $17 million), and received an honorary degree and got to wear a YU painter cap. Among the honorees was also Israeli Ambassador to the US, Hon. Meir Rosenne... YU is still under censure by the American Association of University Professors for the "unsatisfactory conditions of academic freedom and tenure"... YCDS brought us BROTHERS and AMADEUS... Director of Athletics, Prof. Tauber announced his retirement after being affiliated with university since 1949... Field Marshall, "President and Founder Idi Ivan Ciment Da Da" engaged students of an "aspiring" nature in a series of lectures on varying topics... Abe Pikus, where are you?... Do you know where the YCSC budget went?... How about the COMMENTATORS for that matter?

ONLY THE FRUM DIE YOUNG
(To the tune of "Only the Good Die Young")

Come out P'nina, don't make me wait.
You Stern College girls start much too late.
But sooner or later it comes down to fate.
I might as well be the one.

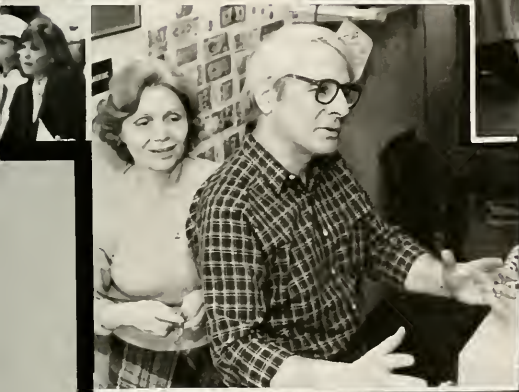

Well they show you a siddur and told you to pray.
They built you a shul and they locked you away.
But they never told you the "Knassim" you'd pay.
For things that you might have done.
Darling only the Frum die young.

You might have heard I run with a shkutzy crowd.
We ain't too frum and we ain't too proud.
We might be "bottling" a bit too loud.
But that never hurt no one.

So come on P'nina, show me a sign
Take off your "shaitel," I'll throw you a line.
That full length skirt that you're hiding behind,
Never lets in the sun.
Only the frum die young.

You got a nice long dress and religion for an occupation.
You've got a brand new soul
and a lovelife that's droll.
Well, P'nina they didn't give you quite enough information.
You didn't count on me,
When you were counting on your Rebbe.

They say there's a heaven for people who learn.
Some say it's better, but I'd rather burn.
I'd rather be with the sinners,
than the frum girls from Stern.
The sinners are much more fun.
ONLY THE FRUM DIE YOUNG.

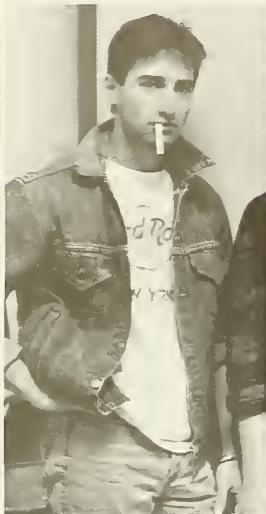

You mean you're not my blind date?

Co-Captains David Finhas and Ralph Griesz helped lead a young and promising varsity fencing squad to a quite respectable record of 3 wins and 3 losses. This feat was more so special because of the loss of six of the team's starting squad from the '84-'85 season and that this year's squad consisted of 3 first year fencers.

ALL-LAY TEAM!

Hockey Intramurals were a popular night activity at YU. The two senior teams were the Rebels and the Outlaws headed by Hillel Hyman/Shalom Menora and Shmuel Goldstein respectively. Their winning records prove that we, the Class of 1986, are far more supreme than any other class!!

The Rebels should bring home the championship this year with the help of Peretz Hochbaum and goalie Eli Cohen. And the Outlaws made it to the playoffs with the help of Arye Colton and goalie Ronnie Gross.

HOCKEY

YU MACCABEES

This year's Macabees enjoyed the honor of being the first basketball team to play a home game at home. The team was led by co-captains Joey Eaves and Ronnie Schwartz. They ended this year with a record of 12-9. The team lost a majority of their starters. They bid farewell to Steve Frenkel, Beryl Thomas, Jeff Harris, Moshe Orlian, and Eli Davidoff. Let's hear it for the "Big Mac Attacks."

OFFICE OF THE DEAN

May 8, 1986

Dear Graduates:

The successful completion of your studies at Yeshiva College is more than a personal achievement. It reflects the commitment you share with more than a half-century of alumni to the unique educational mission of Yeshiva University.

This commitment has required an enormous investment of your time and energy. You have pursued a rigorous dual-program of study which has challenged you to integrate your Torah studies with what is best in Western culture.

This challenge is a persistent one and your success in meeting it will be reflected in your lives and careers. You are fortunate in having as models thousands of graduates who have demonstrated that this challenge can be met successfully and that the mission of Yeshiva University retains its freshness and vitality. I note that during your years here, your class has already given promise of outstanding potential as bearers of the standard of Torah u'Madda.

As you leave Yeshiva College, I congratulate you, I wish you success, and I remind you that you are the models for future Yeshiva College men.

Sincerely,

Norman S. Rosenfeld
Dean

Dear Class of 1986:

As you finish reading MASMID '86, we hope you have enjoyed reliving your college days at YU. The previous pages are filled with our memories of good times and hard times, personal growth, and friendships. These memories are ours. No one can take them away from us. We have endeavored to encompass all the most noteworthy points of our college experience. They are ours to keep, to share, to have for ever.

It is unfortunate that the position of MASMID 86 editor went unclaimed. We assumed the position of editors to maintain the tradition of Yeshiva College's official yearbook publication. It was important enough for us to devote our time and energy not only for ourselves but, believe it or not, for you our fellow graduates. Thank you for supporting us in our efforts to put out this edition of MASMID 86 in the span of 3 weeks. You helped make an unfortunately almost impossible situation bearable.

Now that we go our separate ways, we, the editors of MASMID 86, wish you all the best and we hope that anything you dream will become reality.

A black and white photograph of a stone wall, likely the Western Wall in Jerusalem. The wall is constructed from large, rectangular stone blocks. In the foreground, a dark metal railing with a central post and two side rails is visible. The railing has a decorative top with three curved prongs. The text is overlaid on the lower part of the image.
